

Guide to Solving the Riddles

1. All of the riddles will be related to some feature of the art or architecture you're looking at.
2. At least one of the riddles is a homonym, where the clue sounds like another word defined in the riddle: Example: If the clue is "Make amends for a musical sound," the answer would be "Atone" (make amends for) which is a homonym of "a tone" (a musical sound)
3. At least one of the riddles depends on your knowledge of pop culture (or your ability to use Google)
4. At least one of the riddles is an anagram. Example: If the clue is "Things are changing times," the answer would be "Items" (the word "times" rearranged into "items", which has the same meaning as "things"). Look for words within the riddle that might indicate some other word or phrase needs to be rearranged.
5. At least one of the riddles is clued in reverse – in other words, something, somewhere, is spelled backwards. Look for words in the clue that might indicate you need to spell something backwards to find the answer.
6. At least one of the riddles is answered by piecing together letters from words within the riddle. Example: If the clue is "Cover up to make all singers kinder," the answer would be "Mask" (Make All Singers Kinder).
7. There are other types of clues in the scavenger hunt. See if you can figure them out.
8. Some of the clues are harder than others. If you are absolutely stuck, and need a hint, you can request one. We reserve the right to reply with hints that make the riddle harder.
